Dear Sir,

Re: Your Uni Royal Tyre 165/70 SR13 No. 020483

The report of the examination of your damaged tyre has been received from the Forensic Science Laboratory. The Scientist has concluded that "the damage is the result of a concussion impact with an object or bodywork. The damage is not consistent with that caused by a sharp object such as a knife".

Your (wheel and) tyre will be returned to Newtown Police Station in due course and Detective Chief Inspector Rees will contact you so that arrangements can be made for collection.

Yours faithfully,

Chief Superintendent

Commander R.D. Green RN (Retd.),
The Old Bakery,
Leigh,
Sherborne,
Dorset.

Dear Mr Green,

With reference to your 165/70SR13 Uniroyal tyre, which you brought to our lynx Depot on the 13th September.

After examining this tyre, a cut was found in the side wall, and this cut was the cause of the deflation of the tyre.

Yours faithfully,

 Miss B. GATES.

Dear Chief Inspector,

Since Mr Robert Green will be visiting you today I shall take this opportunity of confirming an event, which happened here today on his arrival, and which he will be reporting to you.

About half an hour after his arrivial one of my granddaughters, Arabella, reported to us that he had a flat tyre. This turned out to be the nearside front tyre and it was reported to be hissing, which it was how it was noticed by Arabella and my other granddaughter Abigail.

We have just now taken the wheel + tyre, which was new, to Ray Heath Motors in Berriew where Ray Heath himself (an old acquaintatnce) had no doubt that it was done by a knife "probably a Stanley knife" as he said. The stab-mark is well-in from the tread and the tyre, Mr Heath says, is irreparable.

Yourssincerely,

D. G. Arnott
